

SALES STORE PERFORMANCE ANALYSIS

INTRODUCTION

This SQL Sales Store Analysis project focuses on analyzing transactional sales data to uncover meaningful business insights.

The objective of the project is to understand customer purchasing behavior, sales performance, and product trends using SQL queries.

By performing data cleaning, aggregation, and analysis, the project helps businesses make data-driven decisions to improve revenue, optimize inventory, and enhance customer experience.

OBJECTIVES AND THEIR INSIGHTS FOR BUSINESS GROWTH

1. What are the top 5 most selling product by quantity

Insight:

A small set of products contributes to a large share of total sales volume.

Business Growth Action:

- Maintain higher inventory levels for these products
- Use them for bundling and cross-selling

2. Which products are most frequently cancelled ?

Insight:

Certain products show consistently higher cancellation rates.

Business Growth Action:

- Investigate issues related to pricing, quality, delivery delays, or misleading descriptions
- Improve product information and supplier quality

3. What time of the day has the heighest number of purchase ?

Insight:

Purchases peak during specific time slots of the day.

Business Growth Action:

- Schedule flash sales and advertisements during peak hours
- Optimize staffing and system performance during high-traffic periods

4. Who are the top 5 heighest spending customers ?

Insight:

A small percentage of customers generates a significant portion of total revenue.

Business Growth Action:

- Introduce loyalty programs and personalized offers
- Provide early access to deals for high-value customers

5. Which product category generate highest revenue

Insight:

One or two product categories dominate overall revenue contribution.

Business Growth Action:

- Allocate more marketing budget to high-revenue categories
- Expand product variety within these categories

6. What is the return/cancellation rate per product category ?

Insight:

Some categories experience higher return or cancellation rates compared to others.

Business Growth Action:

- Identify categories with quality or expectation gaps
- Improve sizing, descriptions, and customer support

7. What is the most preferred payment mode ?

Insight:

Customers show a strong preference for a specific payment method.

Business Growth Action:

- Optimize checkout experience for preferred payment modes
- Offer exclusive discounts for popular payment methods

8. How does age group affect purchasing behavior ?

Insight:

Different age groups prefer different products and spending patterns.

Business Growth Action:

- Create age-specific marketing campaigns
- Personalize product recommendations

9. what is the monthly sales trend ?

Insight:

Sales show clear monthly fluctuations and seasonal patterns.

Business Growth Action:

- Plan inventory and staffing according to seasonal demand
- Increase marketing spend during peak months

10. Are certain genders buying more specific product categories

Insight:

Certain genders show higher purchasing preference for specific product categories.

Business Growth Action:

- Run gender-targeted advertisements
- Customize product displays and recommendations

CONCLUSION

This SQL Sales Store Analysis project demonstrates how raw sales data can be transformed into actionable business insights using SQL.

The analysis helps businesses understand sales performance, customer behavior, and product effectiveness, enabling smarter strategic decisions.